

The anti-Kerry documentary soon to be aired by the Sinclair Group is a clearly partisan act, running contrary to the group's obligation to serve the public interest in exchange for their free access to public airways.

Sinclair is trying to influence the election by touting the biased opinions of a few individuals, among them (apparently) the executives of Sinclair.

Sinclair's decision to force their stations to air this documentary is a violation in spirit, and probably in letter as well, of the democratic principle. The idea that corporations can have such a large effect on our political system, contrary to the interests of ordinary people, is disturbing.

There is little reason to believe that Sinclair's executives hold anything but their own interests at heart. An America ruled by corporate interests, even indirectly through the use of television propaganda, is no democracy.

Please take action to insure that Sinclair is not allowed to continue its partisan politics in violation of federal election laws. Thank you.
